

INTERNATIONAL SYMPOSIUM FOR EQUINE WELFARE AND WELLNESS

in equine assisted / facilitated therapy and learning programs

April 25-26 2019 | Scranton, Pennsylvania, USA

April 25-26, 2019 | Scranton, Pennsylvania, USA

Come join the discussion, learning and sharing and be part of giving the "Horse a Voice"!

JOIN US as we explore the role, contributions and needs of horses in equine interaction programs, as well as the impact the work has on these sentient beings, with the intention of improving their safety, care and wellbeing through ethics, science, compassionate inquiry and interdisciplinary collaboration.

A diverse range of speakers around the world, both researchers and practitioners from our field are coming together, united in their passion as equine advocates.

Attendees will be introduced to ideas and perspectives drawn from equine cognitive science, trauma neurobiology and psychophysiology, affective neuroscience, ethology, bodywork and groundwork modalities, anthrozoology, etc, as well as selected equine assisted/facilitated approaches.

To register and for more information about the symposium, please visit our website:

www.mindsnmotionsymposium.org

REGISTRATION INFORMATION

Fee: Early bird, $425 per person (before January, 31).

Ordinary price, $495 (after January 31).

Includes refreshments and lunch.

Lackawanna College,
501 Vine Street,
Scranton, PA 18509

For questions regarding registration, logistics, etc, please contact your local host:
Ann Lewis, Equines For Freedom:
EFF@EquinesForFreedom.org

Ilka Parent, Clin. Psychologist, DeGPT
Symposium Coordinator
Minds-n-Motion
ilka.parent@mindsnmotion.net

Equines For Freedom is proud to partner with Lackawanna College in hosting the 3rd International Minds-n-Motion Symposium "A Horse is A Horse, Of Course!?"